

Can you supply a solar power supply system for a buoy?

For buoy applications we can supply a solar power supply system to feed for example the automatic release system, navigation aid, AIS Transmitter or work light. The system is designed for the hardest weather conditions like heavy wind and sea spray and has a long lifetime.

What is a solar buoy?

A solar buoy, such as Dunnrite's Solar Buoy, is a standard marker buoy that acts as a light source at night via a rechargeable solar light. It is designed to protect floating structures like swim platforms, trampolines, piers, docks, and PWCs, as well as swimming areas.

What is the Kato Solar Buoy Series?

The Kato Solar Buoy Series is compact and easy to manipulate. It includes three models: the KTS-1R solar radio buoy, KTS-1C solar sel-call radio buoy, and KTS-1G solar GPS buoy. The Kato Solar Buoy series upgrades power supply to a rechargeable battery via solar panel to lower battery consumption and improve fishing efficiency.

What is the Power Buoy System?

The Power Buoy System is a taut moored facility consisting of a floating buoyant structure moored by multiple tethers to a gravity base on the seabed. For more details on each element of the Power Buoy System - the floating buoyant structure, the gravity base, and the tether system - please click on the links provided below:

How much does a weather buoy cost?

Depending on the types of integrated sensors, weather buoys can cost up to $50,000 or more. Private buyers can easily spend up to $5,000 each month for deployment, annual maintenance, and eventual retrieval. The types of air, wind and wave measurements collected are known as forecast models.
