Hiya, Well, I have followed zeupater"s advice and sent an electronic message to our energy provider, who said they will contact us, so as far as I am concerned that is it now. Plunet - I checked the form again, and there was no question asking to provide import meter MPAN number, only questions about export. Couple of questions Is my Fit partner - the ...

Last year the HA contacted her and asked if she would like to join their trial group for solar pv. She heard "savings" and said yes. The panels were installed last November, dunno about inverter but the export meter is a L& G E470, which might explain why she"s never had to give an export reading, current reading is 3199.25.

The Bottom Line? Smart Meters and Solar Panels Work Well Together. Smart meters and solar panels make a powerful duo, offering more transparency and control over your energy consumption and generation. With accurate measurements of both your grid usage and solar export, smart meters make sure that you're fairly compensated for excess energy ...

The meter is resistant to tamper with reverse energy fraud detection and sealing for life. The meter features an optical port conforming to IEC 629056-21 allowing meter readings to be collected electronically using a standard industry probe and software tool. The port also allows configuration of the meter.
